Perhaps more than any other profession, healthcare has a need and a responsibility to protect the public by making sure those who practice our brand of medicine are qualified. Prometric understands our mission and knows that the stakes higher for delivering exams that are valid, reliable and fair than in the area of paramedic specialty certification.

As gatekeepers of public safety, healthcare organizations have a profound responsibility to help ensure that those who receive a healthcare credential to perform important clinical tasks have legitimately earned them. More than 65 of the world's leading healthcare organizations trust Prometric to provide secure, reliable testing and assessment solutions on their behalf. October 1, 2018, the IBSC will transition to Prometric for all of our family of examinations.
